The 3 Mistakes To Avoid When Hiring A Pet Sitter

Hello Fellow Pet Lover,

There is nothing worse than getting a “pet sitter” to take care of your pets, and come home from a nice vacation to find the house torn up, there are potty accidents everywhere, and the pets are visibly stressed out. Unfortunately, it has happened to some people when they have gotten a “pet sitter” for their pets. How can you avoid ever coming home to a scene like this?

Letter from the Owner

I am often asked about Gwinnett County pet services. The 3 Mistakes To Avoid When Hiring A Pet Sitter has been created to answer questions about who to hire to take care of your precious fur babies. It is easier to list the don'ts than to list all the benefits of hiring a professional pet sitter. I have listed three.

Hi, I'm Barbie Klapp the founder and CEO of 2 Paws Up Inc, and The Pet Sitting Business Coach. Since 2003 we've served more than 900 furry, fuzzy, and feathered clients in the Lilburn, Snellville, Grayson, Loganville, Tucker, Stone Mountain, and Lawrenceville areas of Gwinnett County. We've helped more than 600 humans reconnect to their pets and learn that they can travel (and work late) without Pet-related guilt! I am happy to announce that I wrote my first book, "Pet Travel Tips". I felt that it is important to know a few facts on how to travel with our furry families. Whether you're traveling in the states, overseas, to a local pet store, or even to a dog park, we need to know how to transport our fur family-members safely.

WHY IS A PROFESSIONAL PET SITTER A BETTER VALUE THAN A HOBBYIST PET SITTER?

PROFESSIONAL PET SITTER

V/S

THE HOBBYIST
PET SITTER

CONTRACTS & LEGAL Professional pet sitters have contracts to protect you and them. 	ONLY A HANDSHAKE With hobbyist pet sitters, you are only going on their word.
INSURED & BONDED A professional pet sitter will be bonded and insured in order to protect property and your own peace of mind. 	ONLY PROMISES Hobbyist pet sitters are not insured nor bonded - meaning ANYTHING could happen.
FIRST AID AND PET CPR Professional pet sitters are certified and trained in first aid and pet CPR. 	NO TRAINING, NOR CERTIFICATIONS Most hobbyist pet sitters only own a pet or have watched an animal once or twice, and have no formal training.
YOUR PETS ARE THE PLAN With professional pet sitters, you will find your pet is the #1 priority during their care. 	THEIR PLANS CAN CHANGE Hobbyist pet sitters can and will change their plans at any time, leaving you out to dry.
MORE VALUE A professional pet sitter may cost more, and you get a LOT more. 	CHEAPER OUTCOME Like anything else, you get what you pay for!

The 3 Mistakes To Avoid When Hiring A Pet Sitter

1. Do not hire a pet sitter based on the cheapest deal. If you're on a budget, then there is nothing wrong in finding a pet sitter to fit that budget. However, you should not be selecting a pet sitter solely based on prices because sometimes you “really to get what you pay for.” Check that the pet sitter you are interested in hiring to take care of your pets is insured, experienced, have great customer service, and number one, that they are great with your pets.
2. Hire a professional rather than the “hobby pet sitter.” The pet sitter you are interested in doesn’t necessarily need to be a big pet sitting company that has multiple staff. Perhaps finding a sole pet sitter that pet sits and this is her full-time professional career and not a hobby. If not, they are most likely not fully committed to your time, and to caring for your pets.
3. Do not hire the kid next door. It’s a great way for “Timmy” to earn extra cash, but remember they’re also kids. Which means they are forgetful, lose interest quickly, and have no experience needed to handle an emergency should one arise. You can blame them; their brains are not fully developed yet. Your pets are a big part of your family and your heart, they are your heart and soul, so make sure you get someone who is experienced and mature to care for them while you're away. Would you go out of town and leave your baby with the teenager for a week?

A professional pet sitter is committed to caring for your pets. There is nothing more valuable to invest your time and money into for your pet than finding the perfect pet sitter.
